“STEAMPUNK WORLD” SHOW

Steampunk is considered one of the styles that form part of Retrofuturism, a genre of science fiction that is based on making fantastic and utopian creations based on the idea that a previous era had about a hypothetical future.

Combining a Victorian style with a punk-rock attitude and the use of "metal" style machines, a show with a striking visual aesthetic is born.

Equipped with new electric blowing machines (with zero CO2 emissions and decibels) the "Steampunk World" performers will walk through the streets of the Parade throwing strips of continuous coloured paper with which they can reach an height of 15 metres. Also, with a strategic change in the machines, they become air launchers, allowing to play and interact with the public thanks to the launching of both paper and controlled air currents, achieving moments of laughter and fun between young and old.

Accompanying them is the "Metal Chariot", decorated with a system of gears in various metallic tones and on top of which is a Steampunk-style performer in charge of driving a powerful confetti turbine with which he will throw a shower of colour on the audience. The "Metal Chariot" is equipped with a powerful sound system that will incite you to immerse yourself and become part of this fictional world.
